

Financial sustainability in the rail sector: Complete the survey

June 14, 2022

Management consultancy Vendigital are running an industry survey with the aim of answering the question “How well is the Rail industry aligned and incentivised to achieve financial sustainability?”.

They are hoping it will allow them to gain a better understanding of how different groups within the industry feel about sector alignment, and how well they are being incentivised to deliver the necessary change.

They would really appreciate it if you could complete this short survey and share it with any colleagues within the sector. It should take no more than five minutes to complete, and Vendigital will be sharing the results and the insights driven with anyone who wishes to provide contact details.

You can access the survey here.

The survey feeds into a run of insights Vendigital have produced this year around financial sustainability in the rail sector, which includes a white paper on the 10 challenges to achieve reform and financial sustainability in Rail as well as articles and videos exploring those challenges in more detail.

All of Vendigital's recent insights on the rail sector can be found here, and you can also sign up to receive their monthly newsletter, which contains a round up of news and industries from across the different sectors they work in.
