

FirstClass Safety & Control Ltd achieves double accreditation success with ISO9001 and ISO45001 awards

April 1, 2020

FirstClass Safety & Control (FCSC) is delighted to have been accredited to the new ISO45001 accreditation for its Health and Safety management, and ISO9001 for its Quality Management Systems.

The company received the accreditations in recognition of its commitment to workplace health and safety and the company's efforts to introduce and promote an active health and safety culture amongst its employees and leadership team. The additional award of ISO9001 demonstrates FirstClass's commitment to customer service and quality in delivery.

Mark Meyrick, FCSC Director explains: "FirstClass Safety & Control is a leading supplier of Control and Safety systems. We work in the rail sector installing Depot Protection and Control systems as well as in other critical industries such as Petrochemical, Marine, high-tech manufacturing sites and automotive plants where employee safety and equipment protection are vital.

"Health and safety are an absolute priority for customers, prime contractors and operating companies whom we deal with daily. We must therefore ensure our compliance, training and knowledge are maintained to the highest standards to meet and where possible exceed our customers' expectations."

Mark added: "Accreditation to ISO45001 and ISO9001 was a specific objective for 2020 and I am delighted that we achieved this. Health, Safety and Quality is of paramount importance to FirstClass Safety & Control and is firmly imbedded into our culture and Integrated Management System.”

For further information on FirstClass Safety & Controls market leading safety control systems please visit www.fcsc.uk

Photo credit: FCSC