

Fresh from the press – the latest RailDirector magazine is in the post

May 18, 2021

The May edition of our exclusive rail industry magazine RailDirector is on its way to the homes of more than 2,000 rail industry leaders and subscribers, ahead of its online launch to thousands more readers next week.

RailDirector covers everything from track to train, shining a spotlight on the individuals, products and services that make the rail industry the success that it is.

Take a look below at this month's front cover, along with a teaser of what is in store for readers of the monthly magazine.

May's cover feature is Network Rail's Shane Andrews MBE, sharing his experiences of increasing LGBT+ awareness and empowering colleagues to celebrate diversity in the workforce.

This edition features Railway Mission chaplain Mike Roberts and Haigh Rail's MD Chris Haigh. We've also spoken to Alan Tarrant and Tracey Barber about their upcoming Rail Safety Week.

RailDirector's Danny Longhorn said: "We are delighted the latest edition of RailDirector will be dropping on door mats throughout the UK in the coming days and hope the readers enjoy it as much as we have putting it together.

"It is a real privilege to be able to tell the stories and share the experiences of those working in the railways and I'd like to thank everyone involved."

Also included are contributions from Mott MacDonald's Sally Sudworth, One Big Circle's Emily Kent and the Chair of Kent & East Sussex Railway Simon Marsh.

Christian Wiles, who leads the RBD Publications advertising sales team, said: "We're delighted that the latest RailDirector is arriving with rail industry leaders all over the UK and look forward to hearing their feedback.

"The magazine continues to provide a valuable platform for organisations to put their products and services in front of key decision makers and leaders.

"We are proud to be able to provide that service and to be playing our part in helping the rail industry build back better."
