

Keltbray supporting NHS workers with Nightingale Hospital in London

April 3, 2020

The Keltbray Group, a leading UK specialist engineering services company, has been preparing land and building a surface car park for 2,000 NHS staff close to the Nightingale Hospital in London.

The ExCeL in London will initially provide up to 500 beds equipped with ventilators and oxygen, as part of the country's fight against the coronavirus crisis.

The work by the Keltbray Group has taken place in conjunction with Lend Lease, Wilson James and the Royal Engineers to support the NHS and their vehicles.

Executive Chairman Brendan Kerr said: "We're pleased to be able to provide our services to this important project, ensuring safe and efficient facilities for the thousands of NHS vehicles that will be needed for the Nightingale Hospital.

"We're all in this together and we're proud to support the incredible work that the NHS is doing on the front line."
