

Merseyrail celebrates individuality with new installation at Moorfields

March 15, 2022

Merseyrail has transformed Moorfields ticket office into a celebration of individuality – with a new pair of wings encouraging passengers to pose and ‘be who you are’.

The office has also been adorned with a glitter wall, flamingos, disco balls and a pair of rainbow wings where passengers can get their photo taken.

Situated close to Liverpool’s Pride Quarter, Moorfields is the main station for anyone looking to enjoy an evening out in the area, and Merseyrail wanted to celebrate its position within the LGBTQ+ community in a fun and vibrant way.

The decorations were installed last week and Jane English, Merseyrail’s Deputy Managing Director, is calling on all passengers to get involved.

She said: “We are incredibly proud to support the LGBTQ+ community, including being the sponsors of the inaugural Liverpool Pride Awards, taking part in Pride marches and creating the Merseyrail LGBTQ+ & Allies employee network in 2020.

“We work hard to ensure Merseyrail is inclusive and diverse, as well as making sure that our passengers feel safe when travelling with us and are able to be who they are.

“I can’t wait to see our passengers’ pictures with the wings at Moorfields and would encourage everyone to share their images with us by tagging @Merseyrail in their social media posts.”
