

Neal Blackman appointed to RIA London & South Business Engagement Manager role

April 6, 2023

Experienced transport professional Neal Blackman has been appointed as the Railway Industry Association's (RIA) Business Engagement Manager for London & South.

Neal worked at Amey for over fourteen years and has experience across a range of sectors including rail, highways and aviation. He has previously worked in the Middle East, Australia and the United States and has a background in operations, strategy and business development.

Neal Blackman, RIA London & South Business Engagement Manager, said: "I am delighted to be joining RIA as their new Business Engagement Manager for London & South and am excited to work with its members (both old and new) and key stakeholders to continue to build the regional network. It's great to be working with such a talented and dedicated team, and I look forward to contributing to the continued success of RIA and its members."

Robert Cook, RIA Policy Director and London & South Lead, said: "We are delighted to have Neal joining the team, and his appointment is key to our London & South network rollout. Neal will be a key part of our dedicated support for RIA members across London and the South of England, and we look forward to developing our programme in those parts of the UK throughout this year.”

Photo credit: RIA