

New Industry Event – Rolling Stock Networking (RSN)

November 27, 2018

RSN (Rolling Stock Networking) will continue the rapid and successful growth profile of the highly successful RIN (Rail Infrastructure Networking) series of events, with a further networking event specifically for those in the Traction and Rolling Stock market.

Participants at RIN have been asking event organisers to broaden the networking platform to cover Rolling Stock. The team at RIN has listened and responded and is incredibly proud to announce RSN 2019 as a large-scale, full-day rolling stock event at the Derby Velodrome on Thursday 11th July 2019.

The RSN event offers over 100 stand spaces provides great opportunities for companies of all budgets to reach train operators, leasing companies, consultancies, new builders and the rolling stock supply chain. The show has a strong theme of engagement with academia, universities and colleges to promote the involvement of young adults and those seeking a career in the rail industry.

The offer price provides participants with a full size 4m x 3m (12m²) carpeted stand with an electrical supply included. The show is based on a low cost, quick set up format allowing a 3m pop-up and stand furniture to be easily erected. The new venue will also allow participants to bring sizeable products to display on their stands due to step-free, floor-level loading from the car park.

Within 10 minutes walking distance of Derby railway station and, having parking space for 1,100 cars, the show is at the centre of the UK traction and rolling stock industry.

The accessible pricing provides companies of all sizes with cost-effective access to the Traction and Rolling Stock market and builds on the success of our sister event RIN; RSN is expected to sell space rapidly.

Keven Parker from Jobson James Rail is RSN's lead sponsor as well as being the founder and organiser of RIN/RSN. Keven said: "RSN is a new exhibition which will build upon the popularity of our hugely popular and successful infrastructure event and the RIN brand. It will provide wider and complementary cross sector exposure for companies large and small, operating in the Traction and Rolling Stock market. The exhibitor price is set at an exceptionally low level to reflect our continued aim to promote the growth of those participating in all areas of the Rail market.

"Our aspiration is to make exhibiting accessible for companies of all budgets to meet and network in the friendly and collaborative atmosphere that has become a hallmark of our events."

Website and promotional marketing will be produced by rail industry marketing and communications specialist Mercury Group and RSN's media partner is railbusinessdaily.com. The new site features the same user-friendly booking features that have proven popular with those participating in RIN.

The RSN event, which will be held on 11 July 2019 at the Derby Arena (the Velodrome) is entirely free to attend.

Rail Infrastructure Networking (RIN) Events will continue to run quarterly with the last event in York on 22nd November at York Racecourse being completely sold out. The next event will take place in London on 28 February 2019.
