

Permaquip appoints product and service development manager

April 6, 2023

Permaquip has announced the appointment of Richard Cradock as product and service development manager.

Richard brings over 30 years of rail experience, having worked globally for companies such as British Rail and Geismar.

“We are thrilled to welcome Richard to our team,” said Scott Harrison, chief operating officer at Permaquip. “His extensive rail experience and knowledge of the industry will be a tremendous asset to our company as we continue to provide the best rail plant systems to our customers, both nationally and internationally.”

Coupled with the experience of the existing team, the organisation says Richard’s appointment reaffirms Permaquip’s commitment to delivering solutions to the most critical issues customers face in track renewal and maintenance.

Richard can be contacted at: RCradock@permaquip.co.uk
