The launch follows months of research and work behind the scenes to transform the news element of our offering.

Dean Bruce, Managing Director at RailBusinessDaily, said: "2020 was an incredibly challenging year for all of us, but there was also a lot to be proud of.

"At railbusinessdaily.com we saw more and more organisations and individuals turning to us to support their business and to view the latest rail-related news.

“That is why we wanted to freshen up our whole website starting with the news page. We have redesigned the page from the ground up based on the feedback we’ve had from our readers.”

The site includes the latest rail news, insight guest writer features and the popular In The News daily podcast.

Dean said: “We have greatly improved the functionality of the website, our stories now load instantly which is better for our readers, and we have taken care to make sure the site optimises across all of the latest mobile phones, tablets and other devices.

“Not only this, we have added new features including our most read stories and easy to follow navigation. So our readers can find the content they want quicker.

“All this has been done with you, our readers at the forefront of our minds as we look to accelerate our place as the go to business for exclusive news content, guest writers and insight.”
