March 30, 2023

Transport executive search specialists Intuitive Talent Solutions have celebrated a decade in business with an event in support of the Railway Children charity.

The talent consultancy hosted a vintage bus tour of London with over 60 friends of Intuitive from the transport sector in attendance, with £6,852 plus Gift Aid, raised for the Railway Children.

Intuitive enlisted well-known industry faces as crew, including Andrew Haines, Network Rail Chief Executive and Anit Chandarana, Lead Director of the Great British Railways Transition Team (GBRTT), as conductors.

The tour driver was none other than Network Rail Chair, Peter, Lord Hendy of Richmond Hill, who drove his own vintage Routemaster. Peter, who is a longstanding patron of the charity, was surprised to receive an additional Railway Children donation from Intuitive.

Nina Lockwood, Founder and Director of Intuitive said: "We've loved being part of transport for the last ten years. The passion this sector's people have for the jobs they do has proven infectious – Intuitive are just as passionate and excited as ever about what we can collectively achieve

"What better way to celebrate our milestone birthday than by hopping aboard the iconic Routemaster with the people that make it happen and giving back to a charity so close to the industry's heart."
