

Two ways to win big while looking for a job with RBD Rail Recruiter

May 26, 2022

RBD Rail Recruiter has given those looking to get ahead in rail two chances to be a winner – using its system to help people land their dream job or by winning a £100 Amazon gift voucher.

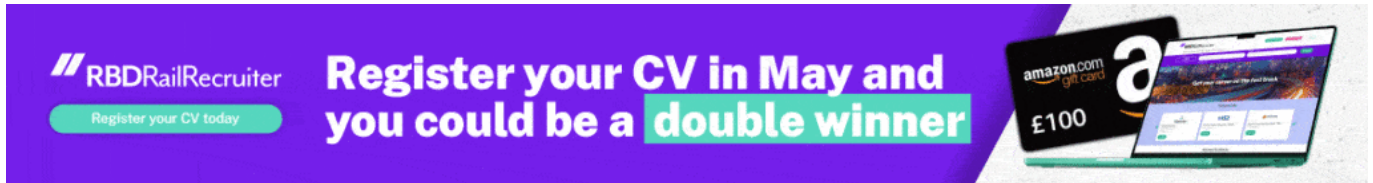

RBD Rail Recruiter was built by rail people for rail people as well as those looking to take their first steps into the industry.

And now, while the site helps match you to your dream jobs and puts your skills in front of the best businesses in the sector, you can be in with a chance of winning a gift card to splash out on a special treat.

To have a chance of winning the Amazon gift card, register your CV at RBD Rail Recruiter before the end of this month. Once registered, you can set up job alerts so that you are the first to know when jobs matching your criteria are advertised, and you can set your account to enable recruiters to match your skills to their vacancies. You can use the system to create a CV for you if you do not have one, and you can even add multiple CVs to your account, although this will not increase the chance of winning in the draw.

Dean Bruce leads the team behind RBD Rail Recruiter. He said: “We know nothing is guaranteed in a job search, but our aim is to get as many top-quality rail jobs on the site as possible and then to do everything we can to assist our job seekers in their search. The site uses the latest technology to help candidates to search for jobs they want and to enable them to find out about jobs they are interested in as soon as they become available. And now, for a limited time, we're providing job seekers with an extra reason to start their search by giving them the chance to win a £100 Amazon gift voucher.

“Although we only launched a couple of weeks ago, our jobs platform has already seen a lot of interest from both major businesses recruiting directly and agencies seeking top rail talent.

“In the last week alone, we have added a large volume of vacancies from Morson Talent, RT Infrastructure Solutions, Atkins and Shannon Rail.

“We’ve got more than 1,000 rail jobs on the site, and new rail jobs are being added every day. These range from construction and trackside workers to civil engineers, project managers, commercial managers and heads of departments. In short, we cover every rail job.

“And to help you in the job search, we also have a wide selection of helpful advice that might give you that extra boost.”
