

Women in Rail Awards 2022 winners announced

May 23, 2022

The fifth Women in Rail Awards took place on Thursday 19 May at the stunning and iconic Roundhouse, Camden London.

Delivered by Nimble Media, the event was attended by over 700 individuals from across the rail industry, coming to celebrate colleagues, teams and companies, who work hard to support others and to help create a more gender balanced, diverse and inclusive work culture in our industry.

The TRAX Choir performed as guests entered the iconic Roundhouse to attend the Champagne reception.

- Five new trustees appointed to Women in Rail
- Celebrating 10 years of Women in Rail
- Women in Rail's Reverse Advent Calendar is back to help those in need

The ceremony was opened by Christine Fernandes, Chair of Women in Rail. She was followed on stage by Conrad Bailey, Director General for Rail Strategy and Services Group, Department of Transport and by Gemma Cairney, Broadcaster, Youth Rights Activist and Author, who was the evening's host.

The calibre of this year's nominations was truly remarkable. Women in Rail received over 300 entries from – and in respect of – a wide range of individuals, teams and companies in the railway sector, many of them from male allies nominating their female co-workers. The judges admitted having a very difficult task selecting who should be shortlisted and ultimately win.

The evening saw 10 awards being presented across individual and team and corporate categories. Launched in line with the Women in Rail and Railway Industry Association EDI Charter, The Equality, Diversity and Inclusion Award was introduced to showcase those organisations, teams or individuals who have developed a strong and successful approach to EDI. A Special Recognition was awarded to eight exceptional shortlisted nominees.

The Adeline Ginn Women in Rail Award was presented to Jacqueline Harrington, Legal Secretary, ODL & Insurance Manager for Angel Trains and Sigourney Doyne, Team Secretary at CS2 Limited, for being an integral part of the Women in Rail journey and have been, in the words of the team, the backbone of Women in Rail alongside Adeline for many years.

The judges specifically requested that all the nominees be commended for their hard work, selfless dedication, and commitment and that a huge thank you be directed to all those, and especially male allies, who nominated for this year's Women in Rail Awards.

Christine Fernandes, Chair of Women in Rail and Business Development at CAF Rail UK said: "It was a fabulous evening and so well supported by the industry. This year, yet again saw a tremendous diversity of entries.

"Congratulations to all the winners and shortlist it really just goes to demonstrate what an amazing and talented industry we have."

David McLoughlin, CEO of the Business Daily Group, was one of the judges for the awards. He said: "The Women in Rail Awards is a shining example of the best in rail - and the bar was, as always, set incredibly high.

"I would like to say a huge 'well done' to everyone who was in the running this year. Every entry highlighted outstanding achievements from women working in rail at all levels and within many disciplines.

"A diverse workforce is a stronger workforce. The Women in Rail Awards stands as an important example of why rail businesses need to ensure they open their doors to welcome diverse, forward-thinking teams."

Women in Rail would like to extend a big thank you to all the 2022 Sponsors:
