

Work Winning Competency and Training

June 29, 2021

Birmingham Centre for Railway Research and Education's (BCRRE) highly successful 'Stay Connected' events continue to go from strength to strength with the announcement of a webinar that has Tim Shoveller as its headline speaker.

This Stay Connected event, in conjunction with BCRRE at the University of Birmingham, will take place between 10am and 11am on Wednesday 07 July 2021 and is sponsored by Sopra Steria's Competency Training Marketplace \(CTM\).

The webinar is completely free of charge to attend and rail industry principal contractors, supply chain organisations, train companies and freight operators can sign up by clicking here.

If you have an interest in rail operations and work opportunities in the North West and Midlands, this event is for you.

Tim Shoveller is a Managing Director for Network Rail (North West and Central Region).

He will give an update on what is happening in his region and to discuss the importance of competency and training across the rail industry.

Tim will be joined by Craig Purcell who is Managing Director of Stratford-upon Avon-based Fenix Rail systems. who, as the guest speaker, will talk about how CTM has helped to transform his business and how it is supporting him from a work winning perspective.

More information can be found at: <https://www.railalliance.co.uk/events/>

Click here to register to the webinar.

Stay Connected

Work Winning Competency and Training Webinar

You are personally invited to join Tim Shoveller, Managing Director, Network Rail (North West and Central Region) for an update on what is happening in his region and to discuss the importance of competency and training across the rail industry

Event Details: 10am to 11am on Wednesday 07 July 2021

Please click HERE to book your place.